DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is responsive to the Amendment filed on June 8, 2006. The Applicant has amended claims 6-10. However, a new rejection is presented for the following reasons of record.

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 6-10 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 15, 16 of U.S. Patent No. 6,916,563 B2. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they each teach a hydrogen purge control apparatus comprising a fuel cell stack, a purged hydrogen dilution device, a regulator, and a control unit.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yamamoto et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,916,563 B2.

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Rejection of claims 6-10 drawn to a hydrogen purge control apparatus.

Yamamoto et al., teach a fuel cell stack from which hydrogen is purged as necessary (col. 2, lines 3-8), a purged hydrogen dilution device disposed downstream of fuel cell stack, and which includes a chamber (Fig. 2; ref. 5), a first inlet for allowing purged hydrogen to flow into the chamber (Fig. 2, ref. 11), a second inlet for allowing air to flow into the chamber (Fig. 2, ref. 12), and an outlet for discharging diluted hydrogen from the chamber (Fig. 2, ref. 13); a regulator for regulating amount of purged hydrogen flowing into purged hydrogen dilution device and a control unit connected to regulator (col. 7, lines 13-24), which includes a hydrogen concentration estimating section to estimate concentration at outlet of purged hydrogen dilution device based on operating state of fuel cell stack (col. 7, lines 25-58).

Thus, the claims are anticipated.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hamada et al., JP 11-191422, teach a fuel cell system which purges hydrogen through a control apparatus.
